When the darkness grows ever deeper around you, seek the Lord's tender touch and His grace will be alive within you.

Seek the Lord's tender touch and His grace to be alive in you every moment.

Seek the Lord's tender touch to heal others, to comfort them, and to turn their heart to our Lord Jesus.

Seek the Lord's tenderness and His grace to be alive in you.

Seek the Lord's wisdom to live your life for Him and to defend your faith.

•

Christ has been with you and guided you all the days of your life.

Christ has given you all you could ever need.

Christ has been with you through all your afflictions.

Christ is the supplier of your comfort in your many hurts.

Christ has always been with you even when you did not know.

•

All of eternity is yours, because Christ suffered and died for you, a lowly sinner undeserving of His favor.

Although you might be in pain, you are rich in life because of Christ.

Even in the poverty of your pain, you are rich in His comfort.

The evil one seeks your destruction and eventually attains your death. However, the evil one is defeated and you are made victorious by Christ our Lord.

From the touch of Christ's hand, you have new challenges, new energy, and new power forever.

Christ will give you the power to love, understand, and accept others just as He loves, understands, and accepts you.

•

Christ will help you see His true light every time you worry.

Give Christ praise for giving you hope because He was born when mankind had no hope.

Christ loves you in a personal way as you try to love Him back in a personal way.

Rejoice when Christ returns because His joy will be poured out upon you.

Of all the places you have ever been or will ever be in your life, there is no place like being in His perfect home within you.

•

In your faith, you know you are one in the bond of Christ's love.

In your freedom, Christ may not let you go your own way.

In your freedom, Christ may not let you rebel.

In your freedom, Christ may not let you sin.

In your freedom, Christ may let you do only what He would have you do.

•

Christ will give you the power to love, understand, and accept others just as He loves, understands, and accepts you.

Even when you are in pain, you are rich in life because of Christ.

If you are playing hide and seek with the Lord, remember He always knows where you are.

Committing your life to Christ makes your time of failure a time when you commit to overcome being down, discouraged, or depressed

Pray every day for peace, love, and compassion to abound.

•

Christ will help you show others the importance of godly wisdom, knowledge, and education.

If you live as if there is no spiritual life, there will be no spiritual life for you.

Pray this very hour for all people of the earth to come to know the reality of His love. Then the whole world will be transformed.

In the war for your soul, always fight evil by being forgiving and kind, even when you are attacked.

Please give healing and guidance to the care givers who try to help those who are hurt and broken.

•

All the time, Christ has been with you in the past and He will be beside you in all the days to come.

Although you have had to go through many trials and endure many afflictions, every day of your life can be filled to overflowing with His love.

Christ Jesus will walk with you in the coming days. You will need His strength, His wisdom, and His power.

Even in your darkness you are lifted in Christ's light.

You believe you have great power until you are in Christ's presence. When you are in His presence, His love and touch keep you humble.

•

During the coming days you will need Christ and you will praise Him for being with you.

Live in praise, for Christ has looked out for you from the day you were born.

Christ's hand reaches down to you to touch, to rescue, to heal, and to bring you home to glory.

Be humble before Him and Christ will show you His eternal spring.

When you are overcome and find you have no way to move forward, Christ is still with you and within you.

•

As the heart of the simple people of the earth cry out to Christ, He hears their cry.

As you sit with the Lord each day, He will inspire you to always live with a clean heart and a clean mind, seeking only to glorify His name.

In every moment of your doubt, come near to Christ and He will give you His sure presence.

Make every little thought you think be only a thought about what Christ wants from you.

Christ will show you whatever you think you know can be revised and improved within His glory.

•

If you give up now, there is no way of winning out.

In Christ and through Him, you shall enjoy not just one shining moment, but a shining eternity.

Christ answers or responds to every prayer you pray.

In some ways you are better now than you have ever been before.

In the chaos, change, and turmoil of your life, you need a place to go as a refuge...like the cleft in the Rock.

•

Against every foe, choose hope.

Christ will always help you do what is right in His eyes as you try to serve Him.

Give Christ praise because Christ loved you before you loved Him.

In a spirit of thanksgiving, remain in a state where God's beauty within your heart is beyond description.

This week put aside distractions so you can be near the Lord.

•

You can make every moment of your life a part of Christ's great gift to you...His great gift of life given to you on the day of His birth and again on the day of His resurrection.

During the coming days all things can be made new through your faith.

Turn to Christ and He will help you support others, care for them, and love them.

Christ's will is for you to push on, to push ahead, and to fight the good fight of the faith.

In Christ's love and in His grace, He will help you be wiser as you come to know more of His wisdom and His truth.

•

All your years of trying to do what was never attainable...become insignificant when compared to the sacrifice Christ made for you on the Cross.

Although you may have little hope of ever being victorious over the mountain on your back, you have infinite hope for victory in Christ Jesus.

As you commit your whole life to Christ, in His love and grace, you can discover His hidden wisdom in every failure.

At Christ's perfect kitchen table you shall find warmth, comfort, blessings, and friendship for eternity.

Because of Christ and through Him, you can touch the infinite by giving your life away to Him. •

In His love and grace, the Lord will help you survive the slings and arrows coming at you.

The Lord will help you take control of all your excuse-making.

The Lord will keep you aware of His power.

The Lord will mold and shape your heart so you are an instrument of His love as you minister to a person full of sadness.

Every moment of your life, Christ reaches out to guide, direct, encourage, and inspire you to live a devout life.

Against every grief, choose hope.

Let your love see the reality of what others need, both in the short term and in the long term. This week, the Lord will help you be a humble soldier in His sight.

When you think Christ does not hear your prayers, He will remind you He is always listening and acting upon your behalf.

Christ has never led you astray.

Beyond where you are now in your pain, you can see Christ's glorious appearing.

Even in your pain today, Christ is over you, under you, and all around you as He gives you His comfort and peace.

The Lord will guide your steps as you walk His path.

Give Christ praise because when you saw injustice and the dark voice told you to look the other way, Christ was with you calling your heart to controlled anger over the injustice.

In every moment of your insecurity, Christ will come near to you as He places His hand upon you so you will feel secure.

The Lord can see you but you can't see Him...so a little faith is needed.

God created you to live in His joy.

When you are crushed by circumstances, in Christ's wounds you can hear Him tell you to get up, move forward, and tell others about His love.

When the hour of your trials reaches its peak, Christ will enable you to shine the light of His love to the world around you.

Christ Jesus will keep you on His path of responsibility so you are a blessing to the world.

All the words of wisdom ever spoken become tiny in their importance when compared to the sacrifice Christ made for you on the cross.

Christ gives you a will to refuse what the world considers wise before checking things out with Him first.

Christ gives you an extra measure of encouragement to fight the good fight for Him and for His kingdom.

Christ helps you accept other believers as people who struggle in the faith just you sometimes struggle.

Seek Christ's wisdom, His encouragement, and His touch of love.

According to your ability to surrender to God's will, you can share in a measure of His power and majesty.

Against every obstacle, choose hope.

Pray every day the Lord will give you utter disdain for what is wrong.

Ask God to grant you the power to be humble.

In His essence of love, if you ask Christ to help you forget about yourself, you won't have any more issues about trusting people.

•

With a heart tuned to Christ, even with a lack of knowledge, you are overwhelmed by Christ's wisdom.

Christ will help you keep on believing so you push ahead each day.

Christ will help you to see His forgiveness where only revenge seems to rule.

Although you I have done many things you know are wrong, the power of Christ's grace overwhelms all wrongs.

In the quiet times of the night, when you are alone in your thoughts and feelings, Christ will always help you direct your thoughts toward Him.

•

As you battle against the darkness, remember Christ came into the world to be your light and the light of the world.

As you gather with friends this Christmas season, invite Christ to be with you and others in all possible ways.

As you gaze into His little eyes as Jesus rests in the hay, the Lord will help you turn away from your selfishness.

As you think about the Christmases of your past, Christ will show you the love He has for you now and the love He has for you in the future.

This Christmas season, as Christ blesses you with His comfort and rest...reach out and touch the life of everyone you pray for each day.

•

Although you may have many heartbreaks and unfilled needs, ask Christ now to help those you pray for each day.

As your hair turns gray and your skin begins to wrinkle, Christ can make you young by giving you thoughts about how exciting your future will be.

The Lord will keep you aware of the wiles and devices Satan uses to attack you.

Although walking in Christ's love is tough to do, He has prepared an infinite future of love for you.

In Christ there is peace beyond all understanding.

•

Make Christmas a time to begin letting the Light and Love of Christ show through your life to the rest of the world.

When you hold the baby Jesus in your arms, you do not need to hear Him speak in an audible way.

The infinite power of God came down to earth in a stinking cave where animals were kept...all for you.

The evil of the world did not disappear when Christ was born. However, some day soon, evil will be destroyed for eternity.

When Jesus was born, every life, heart, and soul was given a chance of a lifetime for eternal life.

•

According to Christ's will and according to His love, He will give you the power to direct your mind only to His will for you.

Our words are feeble but Christ can read our heart.

For every prayer you utter in your heart, Christ's heavenly and holy power shall be poured out over those for whom you pray.

For the times you are slighted by others, the Lord will help you see their opinions count for nothing in His eyes.

Give Christ praise for the freedom He gives you in your soul.

•

When all you have done is rework, redo, and overdo because of the attacks of the darkness against you, continue on to rework, redo, and overdo in the Lord's love and grace.

Even when you are anything but spiritual at any moment, the Lord is still present within you.

As you dream of the impossible becoming possible, you cannot dream enough about what the Lord can do.

As you endure many trials, tribulations, and temptations, the Lord is always with you helping you be His child.

You are never too old to grow in strength and character.

•

Although you may not always have good experiences when you fellowship with other believers, the Lord will help you see they need Him just as much (or more) than you need Him.

Things happen and events take place in your life whether you worry about events or not.

Jesus will never let you grieve over sin left behind.

Jesus will never let the attractiveness of sin tempt you beyond your ability to resist.

The impossible circumstances in which you live can hurt your soul, but Jesus is the great physician.

•

This Christmas, listen and you can hear the song of His angels...His angelic, glistening, gleaming, shining, resonating song within your soul.

This Christmas, remember Christ will come again on a new day when His glory fills the earth.

This Christmas, when you face obstacles over which you have no power, you have eternal power in Christ where obstacles will cease to be.

Give the children in your life the Christmas gift of always doing the right thing for them and with them.

This very hour let your heart sing out with a spirit of infinite thanksgiving for Christ's birth.

•

Although you are in pain, you can honor, revere, and respect the Lord.

As you look at the world you can see evil has its own personal designs for you, for your family and friends, and your loved ones. But you have a Savior...

As you seek to do Christ's will, try to lessen the worry of others in your life.

As you open your heart to Christ, you will find a reason to live.

Give Christ praise because with His peace in your heart. In Him, there is no more need to worry, doubt, or fear.

In Christ there is peace beyond all understanding.

•

We reach out to Jesus because we are weak. We reach out to Him because the burdens of our life cause us to crumble under the weight of our life.

Reach out for Christ's presence in your life. He understands you and loves you in spite of your weaknesses, deficiencies, and sin.

In your pain, Christ will guide you to think only of Him.

Forgive others as Christ has forgiven you.

In Christ's grace and in His love, He will instill within you the determination to stay with things as He has placed them in your life. Do not give up.

•

Christ will give you a courageous spirit to pay all costs in leading the life He wants you to lead.

Christ knows you love Him. He knows you will do whatever He wants you to do.

We honor Christ and know He looks over our life from His home in Heaven.

Like the beautiful paintings He provides as your sunset, He inspires His beauty within you as a part of His creation.

Christ's love can set you on bright and shining new paths.

•

According to Christ's will, you will always be able to give His comfort and rest to others.

In your faith you shall trust in righteousness a little more each day.

There is within you a place of perfect power where you can find perfect love.

As you ignored Christ's love for you, you sank into the depths of your curse of selfishness.

When you stagnated, Christ enabled you to grow, even against your will.

•

Christ's love prevails over all your suffering and pain.

Christ's love restores you when pain comes and suffering tears you down.

Christ's power of love may elude you but He will help you seek and you shall find.

When Christ's power of love often seems to be lacking in you, He will be present and you will know His love.

Christ's presence diminishes the bad and reduces evil's temptations put upon you.

•

Jesus will help you turn away from the worldly attractions trying to choke the life out of you. Jesus will help you look only at the treasures you have from Him.

Give Christ praise because He is always with you.

God, Jesus, and the Holy Spirit can hear every thought of your mind.

In every excuse you make, the Lord will help you move away from excuses to find His hidden truth unlocking your fullest potential.

In ways you often do not understand, Christ lives within you. He seeks to be ever-present within your thoughts and within your spirit.

•

Christ knows all things.

Christ knows about your emotional pain.

Christ knows about your inner torment and your physical pain.

Christ knows how impossibly difficult things are for you. Yet, with Him, all things are possible.

Christ knows how your future does not look good at the moment. Christ also knows your future is unlimited.

•

With Christ's peace in your heart, you can see what no one else can see.

Keep serving the Lord even when you are downhearted.

Pour Christ's light over the burdens others carry.

Even when you are weak, small, and you make only feeble attempts to talk with Him each day, Christ still hears you.

Ask Christ to give you a drink of His living water today...and He will do as you ask.

•

Give Christ praise because with His peace in their heart, nations will turn their swords into plough shears.

Satan's darkness will leave you alone while Christ's Light illuminates your heart and life.

In Christ's love and in His grace, the Lord will help you understand He always wants to touch you more than you could ever want to touch Him.

In His love and in His grace, the Lord will help you put the pieces of your life back together.

In His love and in His grace, be giving in your worship rather than expecting to receive.

•

All of eternity is yours because Christ touched your heart and called you to turn away from your sin within you.

All of your days are filled with Christ's guiding hand if you would but open up to His love and grace.

As you try to do Christ's will, please lessen the heartache of others in your life.

In Christ you find new life, new hope, and new reasons for being.

In Christ you find shelter and warmth.

•

Even if you are not aware of Christ's presence, He walks with you and talks with you each moment.

Even when your flesh is weak, you can be strong in His power and protection.

If you hold anything against anyone, pray for Christ to touch your heart. Pray for Christ to show you the error of your lack of forgiveness as He sends your heart to them to forgive them.

In the war for your soul, you can always fight evil by being tough-minded and totally unrelenting in doing Christ's will.

The Lord will help you know the spiritual landscape of your life.

•

Christ, your precious Lord Jesus, is your prince of peace.

Christ, who from the beginning knew your destinations each and every one, will give you a renewed spirit to follow Him.

Christ's cross is the place where He gave you the greatest sign of love He could ever give.

Christ's forgiveness is a healing touch for your brokenness.

Christ's love gives you new life when your old life seems to have slipped away.

•

Please open your heart to Christ so you will always have His outpouring of hope eternal.

Give Christ praise because when you had no answers, He was pouring His wisdom and truth into your heart. He was helping you to always seek, ask, and knock.

In His wisdom and in His grace, Christ pours out His love upon all the nations and upon all the people of the earth.

In His wounds your sin is totally destroyed.

Honor Christ not because you are afraid of Him but because His love continues to pour over you.

•

God will always help you know what to say, think, and do to bring Him joy.

There are times when you don't think you can wait any longer for God to deliver patience. However, God will give you the power and patience you need.

With Christ living within you, even when it seems you have no hope, in Christ you have hope and promise for eternal life.

In all His mysterious ways, ways beyond your understanding, Christ reaches out to you from within your heart and soul.

In His love, the Lord will help you see you have His power within you to be His child.

•

Around the corner, the corner so close the corner is within you, you will find a place of perfect power where you can surrender all your burdens.

As you do His will, God lessens the pain of others in your life.

Give Christ praise for being born so you could live forever.

In a humble way, every day in every way, tell Christ you love Him.

In His love, Christ gives you the power to put others before yourself.

•

Christ will help you know how much He loves you by helping you be a humble and giving servant.

When you are always full of insecurity and doubt, Christ is with you to give you comfort, security, and faith.

Christ sends you waves of love each moment.

In your life and in the life of others there is grief and mourning, yet Christ is your comforter.

In His love and grace, Christ reminds you every hour the point of your life is to love Him.

•

As you come to know more about how things work, resolve to move forward for Christ rather than letting your life be mired down because you made a mistake.

As you try to live each day, the Lord will help you have an open heart of adoration glorifying His name, in all ways, at all times.

Believe in great tomorrows.

Never be so callous you are untouched by Christ's words of love.

Give Christ your heart today.

•

Christ will forgive you when you have so many urgent needs you forget you are to be His servant.

Living in Christ can help you be full of His joy because in Him all your burdens are made lighter under His yoke.

Although you have many afflictions, all of your afflictions are within the reach of God.

In your afflictions, Christ humbles you for His glory.

On earth, you often feel sadness, aloneness, and pain in suffering. In heaven you will feel joy, oneness, and your pain shall be no more.

•

Christ's wisdom in your heart and soul has unlimited possibilities.

Christ's wisdom in your heart and soul is infinite.

Christ's wisdom in your heart and soul knows no limits.

Christ's presence magnifies the goodness in your life.

Christ's tender mercy comes to soothe the hurt from your transgressions.

•

Please read what is in your heart, mind, and soul, because He does.

The Lord Jesus always knows you need His help.

When your prayer list overflows with cries for help, keep praying, trusting and believing.

Turn over all your sinful thoughts of the past and present to Christ Jesus.

When you are confined and imprisoned in your trials and trouble, reach up to God and He will help you find His freedom in your heart and soul.

•

You have given and received many gifts. You could never ask for a gift as precious as Christ.

When you feel like a failure, look into the mirror to see your life is redeemable by Christ.

Although Satan touches your life to give you afflictions upon afflictions, Christ wants you to use your afflictions for His good and gracious will.

Let your heart be full of thanksgiving because you know Christ understands you and loves you in spite of your faults.

This week Christ will help you give His true and wonderful gifts to others.

•

Christ will guide your steps as you seek to serve Him.

Christ will guide your steps as you walk His path.

Christ will guide your steps as you seek to be His child.

Christ will guide your steps in your daily walk.

Christ will guide your steps in the darkness.

•

Although you may be in pain, reach up to Christ within your heart.

Christ is always beside you telling you to care about others rather than only caring about yourself.

Christ will give you His help in the coming days so you have the power to wage battles against the darkness.

Give Christ praise because He loves you in spite of your weaknesses, deficiencies, and sin.

When you were rejected, Christ was there to accept you and show you He loved you. He cares for you in all ways at all times.

•

Christ will help you cast off the chains of your selfishness as you give Him your heart.

Temptations strike your soul trying to separate you from Christ's love.

When you are afraid of what may happen in the future, think about your future with Christ in heaven.

Whenever you see a fault in someone else, touch your heart to forgive.

Please walk Christ's path of responsibility so you can be a blessing in His eyes.

According to Christ's will, He will help me fully shoulder the responsibility of using the power He has given you.

Every day you can live in victory for Christ gives you a new self.

Even when you are not strong in your body, being godly brings a stronger life in victory.

You have a special destination called a perfect home.

In Christ's love and in His grace, He will give you His way of giving to others.

Bring before Christ, in total humility, all of your mistakes and all your sins.

You can do anything, think anything, and believe or not believe anything you want. The big question is...what are the consequences?

You do not always understand God's mysterious ways. However, not knowing God's mysterious ways does not prevent God from acting.

We must admit we have gone far astray of God's will or us.

When Christ returns, make sure you are in the millions who gather in Jerusalem to sing His praises in one voice in one language.

You have many people for whom you can pray who need Christ's touch of healing, grace, wisdom, and love.

Ask Christ to help you show His personal love to all the persons around you.

Christ gives you a reason to live...a reason to move forward in life...and a reason to give to others in His name...even when you live in poverty.

When you get tired of the daily grind of your life, let Christ transform you and renew you so every day is a new day during which you can serve Him.

Whenever you need comfort, the Lord will help you reach out to comfort others.

Even if you cannot express your love for Christ in words, He can read what is in your heart and mind.

Commit your heart, mind, and soul to Christ this day.

In your faith you know Christ's fruit of the spirit contains countless seeds of faith to keep you constantly growing.

In Christ's wounds rests His healing for your grief.

Praise God because Christ gave you eternal life.

•

Open your heart and Christ will help you humbly see the needs of others in the part of the world He has given you.

Give Christ praise because He loves you and because He watches over you every second you are alive.

Christ's mercy repairs the broken soul.

Like the joy of a new child born to a family, there will be joy in heaven as you commit your life to Christ.

We know Christ loves us even when we have spots or blemishes.

•

Even when you fail, let your failures be a victory for Christ and for the work He has given you to do.

Even when you do not deserve it, Christ will come in and touch your heart to make you new and whole as you are being reborn.

Even when you turn your back upon Him, you know Christ will never turn His back upon you.

Christ will help you now do what He did when He appeared...give.

Christ will help you now to be humble so you receive His love.

•

Against every dark hour, you can choose hope.

Listen to Christ's heart and you can hear Christ tell you to use what you have for His glory.

Although you face trials, tribulations, and temptations, with Christ you are secure.

As you kneel before Christ's cross, do your best to express your love and gratitude for all He has done for you.

As Christ blesses you with His comfort and rest, He will help you be a better person of faith.

•

Christ gives you the power to live in a place where you do not belong.

When you look up to Christ from the deep pit of your adversity and cry out for His help, He will say, "I am here, my child. I am here."

In all you say, think, and do, Christ will bring upon you His humility to only say, think, and do what is in His will.

In Christ's love so divine, you are a new person.

Like the water quenching the thirst of the plants and grass, Christ's love for you quenches the thirst of your soul.

•

You can hear Christ say all of your transgressions are no more.

You can hear Christ say He knows nothing about the sin of your past.

You can experience Christ's infinite forgiveness

You can experience Christ's infinite acceptance.

You can experience Christ's infinite grace.

•

All of eternity is yours because Christ suffered and died for you, a lowly sinner.

Although you do not often have the right words to speak to Christ, He knows your heart even when your words are feeble and lame.

Give Christ praise if the only property you own in this world is a small part of His kingdom.

Although you have done many unwise things in your life, Christ is kind and is always providing His wisdom.

In the hour of your deepest loneliness, Christ will bring you the treasure of His presence.

•

Christ has a way of getting you over every mountain.

Christ has the power to move you through every dark moment.

Christ's perfect hope is not in some far away place. His perfect hope is in your heart.

In the quiet times of the night, the Lord will touch you. He will give your heart the desire to pray and pray and pray some more.

From the Lord, the joy of your salvation shall overtake all the sadness and grief you could ever feel.

•

It is not God's will any dark thing should hurt you or the ones you love.

You know more about God's will than you are willing to admit.

Although your flesh is weak, you can be strong in Christ's spirit and in His love.

Christ gave you many trials to make you wiser.

God wants to witness the peace and harmony of the world as every heart, every home, and every nation falls down to worship Christ.

•

Honor Christ and worship His presence in your life even when you feel weak and small.

In the hour of your pain, Christ brings you the real treasure of His comfort.

In Christ's name and by His power, call upon Christ to protect you from the temptation Satan piles upon you.

Pray every person attacked by the darkness finds Christ's light and protection from the evil one.

Seek God's wisdom to live your life for Christ.

•

Guide your steps as you walk Christ's path every hour.

Christ will help you as you live out your faith as His purpose for your life.

Christ will help you fully know the depth and power of His love when you kneel before Him.

Turn your heart and mind to Christ today.

In Christ's essence of love, the Lord will help you forget about yourself and think only of others.

•

Live and breathe with the hope of great tomorrows.

Live in Christ because someday you shall stand in the new mansion He has built for you.

Live within your limitations rather than dieing because of your limitations.

In Christ's hope you are new and renewed each day.

In Christ's joy you can see happiness forever after.

•

All of your days are filled with Christ's loving presence.

What are the lusts of your flesh compared to Christ's purity and holiness?

There is a new day in your future when there will be no more cancer, no more heart disease, no more arthritis, and no more pain or suffering of any kind.

In the darkness of this hour, you can see the hope of Christ forever turning the darkness into His pure light.

When you are tempted, Christ's yoke keeps you from going astray.

•

Some problems of life are almost too simple to solve. When you are a slave to TV, turn the TV off.

In God's rules for life, even when the world disagrees with His rules, His rules are still just, right, and moral.

Life offers you lessons every second you are alive...so be a sponge for all life's wisdom in all areas.

Jesus wants you to be near Him all the time but the work and worries of this world interfere. However, even when you are not near Him, He is always near you.

In Christ's love and grace, He will be with you each day even if you live in a strange land.

•

As your hair turns gray and your skin begins to wrinkle, God makes you young by giving you new dreams for a new day just ahead.

Christ is the big force in your life because He is the biggest force in all of creation.

When you were condemned, Christ pardoned you.

Human beings glorified crime or looked the other way and now crime is in every neighborhood.

Christ touches the life and heart of everyone you pray for each day.

•

In your pain you can find soothing words of God's wisdom in His word.

In times when your world is full of chaos and madness, trust the Lord.

Carry every sadness and grief to Christ Jesus.

You can entrust all your wealth, all your money, and all you own in this world to Christ.

In Christ, you find redeeming love and hope until the beginning of the new age about to dawn.

•

In His love, the Lord will help you see you have His power within you to change.

In His love, the Lord will help you see you have His power within you to create.

In His love, the Lord will help you see you have His power within you to hope.

In His love, the Lord will help you see you have His power within you to love.

In His love, the Lord will help you see you have His power within you to pray.

•

Always know what is in your heart, mind, and soul.

The Lord Jesus always knows you need His help.

When your prayer list overflows with cries for help, keep praying, trusting and believing.

Give all your sinful thoughts to Christ Jesus because He is the great healer.

When you are imprisoned by your trials and trouble, reach up to Christ for He will help you find His freedom in your heart and soul.

•

When Christ wills it, He will tickle your funny bone, give you goofiness, and make you laugh at yourself.

As Christ's humble child, let the lessons of your past teach you to be more compassionate toward others.

In all His ways so divine, Christ will touch your heart and the heart of all the people you have ever known.

When you fear poverty, Christ will show you how you will always be rich in His love and grace.

When you grasp Christ's hand, no matter how things are in the here and now, you have hope.

•

Christ is calling you to make every effort to protect children from the evil lurking everywhere.

In your weakness and in your burdens, give Christ reverence and honor above all creation.

In the darkness of this hour, look to Christ to see His hope giving you purpose every day.

In the future, you may encounter trouble but always know Christ is with you.

In the war for your soul, always fight evil by giving rather than taking.

When all you can think about is your own life, your own problems, your own pain, and your own issues, you live in a darkness of your own making.

When you ask Christ to come into your heart and life, His words in the scripture come alive as never before.

Spiritual greatness is achieved in your life because of Christ's great gift of life given to you by His sacrifice on the cross.

Although you have erred and gone astray as a sinful human being, Christ loves you and cares for you more than you could possibly imagine.

Although Christ lives in His heavenly abode, He will also live within you heart...if you are willing to invite Him in.

According to Christ's will and according to His love, pour out His healing love over people around you who are sick.

Your sinful past no longer exists in His love, in His glory, and in His grace.

You went many places in life and He was always with you.

If evil tries to come back after you have stopped evil, Christ will help you stop evil again and again by doing good and godly deeds again and again in His holy name.

Every person who lives in worry can find peace and joy in Christ's protective embrace.

In every hardship, the Lord will help you multiply your wisdom about Him.

As Christ blesses you with His comfort and rest in your trials, He will help you be a better person of faith.

As His humble child, let the lessons of your hardship teach you to always seek His wisdom first and foremost.

Do not let the impossible get to you, for with God, all things are possible.

During the coming days Christ will supply you with strength, courage, and wisdom.

Live in adoration of Christ as you seek His wisdom to be His humble child.

Although you may lack many things in your life, Christ will help you find His wisdom. The wisdom of Christ offsets every emptiness.

In Christ's mighty hand, He will someday dash all evil to the underworld. He will keep all darkness in the outer darkness where the darkness belongs.

Christ's will is for you to never ever give up.

Your list of needs is fully known to Christ. He is working on your behalf.

•

Christ knows you are in pain.

Christ is the one who leads you and guides you through the darkness of your days.

Christ is your comfort in a world of hurt, pain, and suffering.

Words cannot express the magnitude of Christ's love for you.

Whenever there is a hint Christ's love is fading from your heart, He will pour His power of love into you.

•

According to Christ's will, open your heart and life to His touch of love. Then give His love away to others.

In God's love and grace, the Lord will help you respond to evil in a godly way.

The Lord will inspire His beauty within you to assuage the hurt put upon you by the evil one.

Just before you nod off for the night, the Lord will help you see your future on earth and in Heaven. The Lord will show you how your future is full, secure, and overflowing with peace, joy, and glory.

Remember your worship time is not your time, but His time.

•

Christ wants you to use your pain for His glory upon the earth.

Christ is a supernatural being with the power to walk and talk with you each moment.

Christ can be your firm foundation, depending upon the decisions you make.

Christ can be your presence of love in a world of loneliness.

Christ can be your presence of purity in a world of impurity.

•

Do you slack off doing all you can do while you tell yourself Christ will take care of things for you?

During the coming days Christ will help you light up your world so His Light and Love flow out from you to those around you.

All persons need renewal in their heart resulting in a newness of being.

In times when your world is full of hurt and pain, listen for His sweet voice.

Right now, your earthly circumstances may look impossible. However, with God, all things are possible.

•

For the times of you were ashamed of who you were and how you were, the Lord will help you see all the shame is now gone. In His love you have no reason to be ashamed because you are a new person in Christ Jesus.

Christ will help you see others who are depressed so you can give them His gift of hope and life.

In Christ's love, you find total freedom to pray all you want, freedom to love all you want, freedom to forgive all you want, freedom to create all you want, freedom to bless all you want, freedom to change all you want, freedom to hope all you want, and freedom to be humble in His love and grace.

Give Christ praise because He loves you in spite of your weaknesses, deficiencies, and sins.

Christ loves you whether you have spots or blemishes.

•

In God's will, when you open your heart He will bring you His sweet presence. He will bolster your faith.

According to your love for Him, Christ will inspire in you the passion to live a life of righteousness.

When you truly seek Christ's truth, He will give you the wisdom to always know His truth.

The more you love Him, the more God will keep you ever-mindful of the power of His holy word.

In His love, Christ will remind you every hour He saved your life when He died for you.

•

Although you may be in pain, you know Christ is living inside of your hurting heart this minute.

For the times when you were embarrassed, the Lord will help you see those times were of absolutely no value to Him at the time. Those times are of even less value to Him now except to bring you closer to Him.

Honor Christ not because He has power over you, but because His sheltering arms hold you up in this hour.

In Christ and by His power, let your life be lived so He can produce great and grand works within you.

Praise Christ for His love giving you His strength in the middle of your pain and darkness.

•

Things are so hectic in life you sometimes need a little break. However, you never need a break from God.

Always listen to Christ's calling within your heart each moment.

Always be simple and humble in the Lord's sight.

In His will and in His love, the Lord makes your heart sing with thanksgiving over the blessings He pours down upon you.

Make forgiveness a key stepping stone of your life.

•

According to Christ's will, open up your heart to Christ and to His love.

You can hear Christ tell you not to glory about yourself, but to glory in Him.

Christ will help you listen to Him so He may guide you and direct you in all your ways.

Christ will help you see wealth only brings greater temptations than what you already face.

Honor Christ because He gave you His spirit to drive out all your fear, doubt, and insecurity.

•

Christ Jesus will help you turn away from your past. Christ Jesus will help you turn away from your sin.

When you have failed at everything, remember your greatest victory is turning away from your sin and accepting Christ as your Savior.

In your heart, you desire to sit with Him and pour out your heart to Him. In prayer or out of prayer, He hears the desires of your heart.

In His love and grace, the Lord will help you find your purpose for living in His purpose for you.

In His will and in His grace, the Lord will help you receive His happiness.

•

Always give yourself over to God's will at all times and in all ways.

Put the temptations of life aside by using the power of Christ's love.

Make the way you handle pain be the way Christ would handle pain.

Christ will show you a vision of His great ascension so your heart will likewise be lifted up into the clouds.

What we know about Christ overwhelms the many mysteries about Him.

•

At His perfect kitchen table you shall find joy, laughter, peace, love, compassion, and understanding.

The Lord will help you defeat evil as you find hope in hopeless circumstances.

When you were hurt, Christ came and bandaged your wounds.

We honor Christ not because He has power over us, but because His sheltering arms hold us up.

May you never do what you want to do. Rather, may you always do what Christ wants you to do.

•

All of eternity is yours because Christ took your place and suffered for you as no person has ever suffered.

Although you face trials, tribulations, and temptations, with Christ you are secure.

You will rejoice when Christ returns because no one will hunger, thirst, or weep.

Let your life shine out to others so others can see eternity waits for them like eternity waits for you.

If you ask Him, Christ will show you how love is possible for you at any instant. He will show you love is possible by how you build and respond to your life circumstances.

•

The Lord will help you fully understand again your terrible act of crucifying Christ on the cross.

According to the ultimate will of God, you can see a new day in your future when all the hospitals are closed because no one gets sick.

Look to Christ this day to give you His comfort and rest. Then you can move out and move onward to serve Him.

Christ is present in your life today.

Praise Christ for reminding you to immerse your soul in His word instead of trying to escape from the cares and worries of your life filled with worldly distractions.

•

All the truths of life become tiny in their importance when compared to the sacrifice Christ made for you on the cross.

When you are in pain, you can still try to love Christ and worship Him, even if your love and worship is tiny and feeble.

Because of the wonder working power of Christ, answers you think you do not have are known to you.

As you count your little blessings one by one, hold up your little blessings to Christ's Light of Love, then you will begin to see your little blessing grow.

As your hair turns gray and your skin begins to wrinkle, loving God with all your heart and all your might will make you young by giving you hope for a new day always blossoming before you.

•

Because you know without any doubt great things will come about upon Christ's return, give Him praise and honor today.

Because you know Christ will come again, look up into the heavens with hope rather than looking down at the ground in dejection.

Erase your burning memories by focusing upon the future rather than living in the pain of the past.

Even if you are weak and broken in body, your strength and condition makes no difference because Christ heals you with His love.

Christ will place His essence within you. In Christ you can believe, trust, and hope.

•

Even in your pain, in His glory, what is not visible IS visible.

Eternity is in your future, maybe tomorrow you will see eternity, but now you are alive in the present time waiting for eternity to appear.

Christ's love makes you simple and humble in His sight so you will seek His wisdom rather than your wisdom.

The perfect spiritual place, where you can sit and talk with God of unlimited possibilities, is not just a place of imagination, but a place of ultimate reality.

In this present darkness, as you struggle to tell Christ the truth, He will help you find the truth.

Praise Christ's name for He came and convicted you of your sins.

Christ holds you in the palm of His nail-scarred hand.

In Christ you will find a perfect healing for the brokenness of your heart.

In your faith, always know Christ will never fail you.

Let whatever you seek in prayer be only Christ's will.

For many reasons, you need to fellowship with others who love Christ just as you love Him.

Come to your sweet hour of prayer each day to acknowledge Christ loves you.

In the darkness of your present world, Christ stands as the only true light bringing love and peace into your heart.

The Lord will help you to step back and take stock of where you are and how you got to be where you are.

Your precious Jesus is your comforter when the world dumps its load of grief upon you.

Christ is found only when you turn away from the world and melt down into a little child.

Know what the point your life has been and will always be.

Know what the point of your life should be.

Know what Christ is saying to you.

Ask Christ to beam His love brightly to those around you.

Although you are in pain, you have so many blessings in your life your blessings overflow in the bounty of Christ's love.

Christ will always enable you to leave sin behind and never look back.

As you turn away from sin and embrace Christ's life of holiness, Christ will always enable you to see the great and grand life He has in store for you.

Christ will always help you see the freedom in living a life without the slavery of sin.

As you open your heart to Christ, you will find a reason to live.

As Christmas decorations are put up around the world, remember Christ's children are attacked and persecuted as Satan tries to destroy Christ's little ones.

As you celebrate Christ's birth, remember war rages in the world because of satanic evil.

As you cuddle a newborn baby, remember this is how Christ started in the world.

In the tough times of this Christmas, as you pour out your heart to Jesus, you will find His reason to live.

Christmas is a time to recommit your life to living as Christ wants you to live.

•

Although you do not often have the right words to speak to Christ, you know He searches your heart as well as listening to your weak and feeble words.

At the end of the rainbow is someone standing and smiling to welcome you home to heaven.

Because Christ still lives, you can count on Him to your cry.

You are not helpless in the circumstances of your life.

In His grace and in His love, Christ's grace and love keep your mind focused and free of distractions.

•

Be grateful Christ understands you and loves you in spite of your selfishness.

When you are grounded and pounded down by your limitations, Christ stands above you ready to lift you up.

You can make many choices about who you are, even if you cannot make choices about where you are.

Christ gives you the power to experience the essence of His love in your life rather than letting the circumstances of your life determine whether His love is real within you.

Live your life in a humble way as you wait patiently for the day you see Jesus face to face.

•

Although you are in pain, you can reach up to Christ to find spiritual joy, exhilaration, and happiness beyond your ability to describe.

If you let Him, Christ will always lead you in His sweet ways so divine.

As a way to destroy evil in your world, the Lord will help you let His Light and Love flow out from you to all those around you.

Christ will enable you to see how perfect He wants all things and all people to be.

The only time when you are ever truly alone is when you have rejected Christ.

Above all else, the Lord will help you respond to Him and to His call to protect His little ones.

The Lord will let you be touched every hour by His waves of happiness. You will be touched when you do what Christ wants you to do, when you are who Christ wants you to be, and when you plan to do what Christ wants you do.

In Christ's love and grace, the He will help you to never ignore evil.

You were blind...then Christ was born and He gave you your sight.

When you are tempted to go your own way, Christ can turn you to go His way.

Christ brings hope because He is bigger than your hope.

Christ gives you new meaning and purpose to live for Him.

When you think there is no hope, Christ's outstretched arms wrap around you as He shows you eternal life in glory.

We kneel in prayer before Christ within our heart.

Take your life, your needs, your wants, your pain, your suffering, your burdens, and use them all for Christ's glory.

Although you may be in pain, give Christ praise, honor, and glory.

The Lord Jesus will help you live out your faith so you are a treasure to Him here on earth.

Give Christ praise because when all of your energy runs out and you are exhausted, Christ is with you pushing you to keep you going.

In your sadness you can find the beaming light of Christ's smile.

Christ will show you whatever it is you think you know can be rewritten for His glory.

God's heavenly and perfect kingdom is just a breath away.

God's perfect spiritual home is a door behind which Jesus stands waiting for you.

Heaven is only a thought away in your mind.

In Christ's perfect spiritual home He stands waiting to immerse you in His love in every possible way.

When you open the door of Christ's perfect spiritual home you will see Him smiling and waiting for you.

•

All your years of reaching out and failing become tiny in importance when compared to the sacrifice Christ made for you on the cross.

Christ will help you throw off your selfishness. Christ will help you find the confidence you need because you are always humble.

Christ lives within you as well as residing in His home in Heaven.

Do not let yourself get caught up in the world. Do not let yourself get caught up in your selfish thoughts and needs.

In this tumultuous moment, you will always find Christ's comfort and restful peace as you have always found His comfort and rest in days gone by.

Never slip into a life of just going through the motions of acting godly and righteous.

•

When you get to thinking how things will get worse, Christ will give you His vision of a time when all things in your life are made new.

For the times remarks were made against you, the Lord will help you see He was there all the time. He will help you see you had His shield of protection but you did not know.

All the wisdom of the world can never equal the truth Christ loves you.

Although you have limitations, because of Christ and through Him, you can begin to get a tiny inkling of Christ's infinite love within you.

As you stand before Christ this hour, you have more power than you think you have. You have His power because Christ and His Heaven are just around the corner of your heart, mind, and soul.

•

Against every problem and issue, choose hope in Christ.

Christ will help you exert yourself to find wisdom in all things and in all matters.

Whether you are rich or poor give Christ praise for giving you the riches of His birth.

The Lord will help you find your reason for living. You will find your reason for living is to serve Christ.

Christ gives you the power to stand firm and be steadfast until you see Him face to face.

•

Although you are in pain, Christ is still alive in your heart, alive in Heaven, and alive in all the places of your visible and invisible world.

In the war for your soul, always fight evil by proclaiming Christ as Savior and Lord. Even when the world has given up hope, Christ is still alive in Heaven and within your heart.

Make all your little thoughts be only about Christ's love, glory, grace, and compassion.

Do not look at others to find your value in their eyes. Look to Christ and see your infinite value in His eyes.

Turn your heart and mind to Christ this day.

•

All of your days are filled with Christ's healing.

All of your days are filled with Christ's mercy.

For every stalk of God's corn and every one of His soy bean plants, give thanks.

Giving thanks is not just an action, giving thanks is a state of being.

God forgives you for not taking responsibility for your life but He expects better from you in all your future moments.

When you turn to Christ and become His child, His healing love immerses you in His heart.

•

Although you are often afraid, one of the desires of Christ's heart is for you to have courage to face your fears.

As a soldier of Christ's cross, you are under orders to accept and follow His order to love others.

As you look at your world, you are tempted to discount as total foolishness the idea any kind of perfect healing can occur. However, look beyond your world into the world of eternal love in Christ.

In times when your world is full of weakness, call upon Christ for strength.

All things Christ wants for you can become real in your life.

•

Praise Christ every hour for His sacrifice on the cross just for you.

Turn over to Christ all your sinful actions of the past.

Turn away from the world and from your sin in the world.

Turn your life over to Christ this day because He lives within you.

Turn over all your sin, all of you are, and all of you have ever been to Christ your Lord.

•

Whenever you feel like you do not count, the Lord will show you how much you count in His eyes.

Whenever you have problems or trials, the Lord will help you find His joyous moment among your times of persecution.

Whenever you feel like you do not belong, the Lord will help you see how much you belong to Him.

When things come apart, control what little you can.

In the darkness of the world two thousand years ago Christ came as the Light of the world. He came to be the Light of your life.

•

Your personal being no longer exists in His presence because you gave Him your all.

Praise Christ for helping you want to do more for Him.

Praise Christ for helping you want to do more for His work on earth

Praise Christ for helping you want to do more for others, especially those who need Him so much.

To help you find Christ's power and majesty, turn your heart away from the world.

When you sank into the depths of the curse of selfishness, Christ touched your heart so you would see Him.

When you want earthly rewards, lift your heart so you can see your true rewards are in heaven.

•

Christ will help you now to be contrite in order to receive His love.

No matter how short you have fallen from Christ's mark, He will forgive you and bless you if you come before Him in repentance.

You will begin to see your little blessing grow, and grow, and grow...until what had been a little seed of a thing, becomes a full-blown flower, made possible only by His love and grace.

There is no such place as a perfect home on earth. However, you have a perfect home in Heaven.

Think first, last, and only of Christ Jesus.

•

Christ will give you strength and courage as He pours His beams of love over you.

Christ will give you the power to love, understand, and accept others just as He loves, understands, and accepts you.

Christ will grant you the power to heal.

Christ will grant you the power to live a holy, godly, and devout life.

In the Lord's grace and in His love, every day let your heart, mind, and soul be transformed into an example of His will.
